The above are the winners in Nodaway Counyt at the primary election held yesterday. The Democratic vote in the county was 3121 for prosecuting attorney and the Republican primary vote for senator was 1748.

The Democrats nominated Mrs. Cora Bell Clary as its candidate for county clerk and Mrs. Mamie Clardy its nominee for recorder. Mrs. Clardy won over Fred Yeomans by 662 with E. W. Willoughby third.

The recorders race was a close contest, Mrs. Clardy winning by 99 votes over Marion F. Smith, second highest man. Luke P. Colvin was third, W. H. Collins fourth, Clyde A. Perkins, fifth and George P. Shoptaugh, sixth.

Virgil Rathbun for circuit clerk defeated Fred Wright by 569 votes.

W. G. Sawyers, won the nomination for prosecuting attorney by 153 over Charles F. McCaffrey.

One of the big surprises of the election was John M. McDaniel carrying Nodaway County for congress over Will E. Spratt and L. C. Gabbert. Both Spratt and Gabbert are well known in the county but McDaniel was making his first campaign in this county and was practically unknown.

Breckinridge Long carried Nodaway County by 1323 over Senator James A. Reed. R. I. Long received 99 votes for senator. Long carried every precinct in the county outside of five precincts, including three precincts in Jefferson township, North Grant precinct and Washington township. The three precincts in Jefferson township gave Reed 146 to 26 for Long. Washington gave Reed 36 to 34 for Long. North Grant gave Reed 17 to 6 for Long. In Nodaway township and also North Independence Reed got a good vote but Long carried these precincts.

Several voters by writing in the name of E. E. Williams as the Republican candidate for probate judge will constitute his nomination, it is said. Mr. Williams received about 40 votes in this township for that office. For his name to be taken off as a candidate, it will be necessary for Mr. Williams to decline the nomination.

GOVERNMENT READY FOR DRASTIC STEPS

THREE AVENUES OF ACTION OPEN AS NEXT MOVE

COULD ASSUME CONTROL

Shopmen at Chicago Accept Substance Of President's Proposal for Settlement

Washington, Aug. 2—The rail managements' refusal of the president's peace program has placed the government in a position to make its next steps more drastic. It is considered likely that no action will be taken until after Friday's meeting of the cabinet.

There are three possible steps that the government may take. The first is to assume control of the roads under the emergency powers of the transportation act. The second is to allow time for the railroads to test their ability to fulfill the transportation needs of the county and the third is for the government to disregard the executives.

The government may continue the efforts to effect a mutual peaceable settlement.

Chicago, Aug. 2—Striking railroad shopmen in an executive session here formally accepted the substance of the president's plans for the settlement of the railroad strike. The shopmen's policy committee, composed of thirty representatives from each of the unions in the district, adopted acceptance of the resolutions.

BARNARD PICNIC TO BEGIN TOMORROW

BIG PREPARATIONS MADE FOR ANNUAL EVENT.

MUSIC TO BE FEATURE

Combined Bands of Nodaway County to Play at 2:45 o'Clock Friday Afternoon.

The annual picnic at Barnard will start tomorrow morning and continue for three days. Big preparations have been made and the people of Barnard say that the indications are that the picnic this year will be larger than ever before. John Rush, editor of the Barnard Bulletin, admitted this morning that this prediction was made each year but said that he believed that this one really would be the best, unless the weather should turn unfavorable.

During the mornings there will be a few amusements and some of the concessions will be open, but the big times will come in the afternoon, when everything will be open and running at full tilt. One of the big features will be that of the political speaking and another will be that of music. The Barnard Band, which is an excellent organization, will be on the job for the three days and on Friday afternoon there will be a concert by the combined bands of Nodaway County, the same organization that played as one of the features of the Nodaway County Music Week. The combined band is under the direction of C. D. Kutschinski and is managed

HUGE CROWD AT SCHUMACHER RITES

SAID TO BE LARGEST EVER IN ST. MARY'S CHURCH

MANY FLORAL OFFERINGS

Eleven Girls Required to Carry Them —Sixty Motor Carloads of People At Cemetery

St. Mary's Church had this morning what was estimated as the largest crowd that has ever been within its walls when the funeral of Ed. J. Schumacher was held. Many people were unable to get inside of the church. Several of the business houses and offices closed during the hour of the funeral.

The Rev. Father Leo of Conception in conducting the sermon paid a tribute to the life and work of Mr. Schumacher and spoke on the immortality of the soul.

The floral offering was unusually large and instead of using the six flower girls as was originally planned the offering required the services of eleven. Five trips were made from the home to the church to carry the flowers for the funeral.

It is estimated that at least sixty motor cars of people went to the cemetery for the burial. Among these were groups of men from the Elks Lodge, members of the band and of the Knights of Columbus. These organizations formed at the cemetery and marched in bodies to the grave.

Several representatives of the different wholesale grocery houses attended the funeral. Among them were Col. J. H. McCord, Hamilton McCord, Lew Thatcher, Victor Mackey and Dan H. Holmes of St. Joseph.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce has adopted the following resolution regarding Mr. Schumacher:

Whereas, The death of Edward J. Schumacher removed from this community one of its most highly esteemed citizens; and

Whereas, The passing away of Mr. Schumacher causes the first break in the circle of the Board of Directors of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce since its organization sixteen years ago. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Maryville Chamber of Commerce feels an especial sense of the great loss in the demise of this faithful member whose activities for the civic betterment of his community have continued through the years. Be it further

Resolved, That in the death of Edward J. Schumacher this community has lost a valued citizen and a true and devoted friend, Therefore, be it

Resolved, That this expression of loss that is felt so keenly in this community be extended on the minutes of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce and that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased.

Adopted unanimously at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce first day of August, 1922.

Fred R. Wolfers, President.
Attest: George A. Pickens, Secretary.

REED WINS FOR SENATOR BY 17,000

BREWSTER IS CONSIDERED REPUBLICAN NOMINEE.

OAKERSON IS BEHIND

395 Precincts Still Out for Democratic Senator Race—Long Can't Overcome Lead.

St. Louis, Aug. 2 (3:05 p. m.).—With only 395 precincts missing in the state Senator James A. Reed is leading Breckinridge Long by 17,690 votes. It is considered doubtful whether Long could overcome this majority.

William Sacks, wet candidate, was leading the field in the Republican nomination race by 2,015 votes over R. R. Brewster, his nearest competitor. Jess W. Barrett, D. M. Proctor, John C. McKinley and John H. Parker followed in the order named.

Charles A. Lee is leading William M. Oakerson for state superintendent of schools. The vote in 1414 precincts gave Lee a lead of 19,603.

For judge of division No. 2, John White, Edwin J. Bean, Haywood Scott and Robert F. Walker are running a close race on the Democratic ticket, two of which are to be named.

St. Louis, Aug. 2—At 2 o'clock this afternoon Senator Reed was leading Breckinridge Long by about 14,000 with 998 precincts still missing. Practically all of the precincts in Kansas City and St. Louis are in. Early this forenoon Reed was ahead of Long about 24,000 but with the rural precincts coming in, Reed's lead was being cut down.

R. R. Brewster was 4,421 votes behind William Sacks, wet candidate, in 2,115 precincts out of 3,848 precincts.

St. Louis, Aug 2—Returns from all but one-fourth of the state show Senator Reed leading Breckinridge Long by approximately 25,000 for the United States Democratic senatorial nomination.

Reed established a lead in Kansas City and St. Louis of 48,000. The rural districts vote is coming in slow and is steadily cutting Reed's lead. The final will show a winner by a narrow margin.

R. R. Brewster, old guard candidate practically is conceded the Republican nomination, leading William Sacks wet candidate. Jesse W. Barrett is running a poor third.

Kansas City, Aug. 2.—The Reed headquarters in this city stated this afternoon that Senator James A. Reed will be renominated by 15,000.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat estimated that Reed has carried the state by 10,000.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch estimated that Reed will carry the state by about 5,000.

There are many precincts still out, all in the rural communities, but it was thought they will not be sufficient to overcome Reed's lead.

St. Louis, Aug. 2.—Late this afternoon it was indicated that R. R. Brewster will win the Republican nomination for senator from 15,000 to 18,000. All of the rural precincts are not in but Brewster was rapidly climbing ahead.

Reed had a lead of about 11,000 over Long with the rural precincts cutting down Reed's lead.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

THE CANE CARRYING HABIT.

Recent visitors to New York and other cities have noted the great number of men who have revived the habit of carrying canes. Saturday night is a favorite time for men to get out with their walking sticks, and the wide sidewalks are often full of promenaders flourishing their canes.

People wonder why it is that men who are perfectly able to walk without assistance, seem to like to get out with canes. It is argued that the cane is the sign of an old man, that it is used by one whose tottering legs need some further support. Yet from time immemorial all the dandies and young bloods seem to feel that carrying a cane adds something to a man's style and swagger and many quite sensible men carry them, too.

Some doctors recommend cane carrying, holding that it develops a swinging stride that tends to work people's muscles and maintain physical activity. There are still some people who dislike any attempt at show, who would feel conspicuous and self assertive if they carried a stick. Many old fashioned country people carry them and many country men still carry them, feeling that it equips them for rough tramping and gives them a sense of activity.

If all men get out of life only what they put into it, it won't take some of them long to get out.

If the coal strike continues, there will be some consolation in the fact that we won't have to carry out any ashes next winter.

With a crop estimated at nearly three billion bushels, which will bring in the neighborhood of 60 cents a bushel on the average this year, the corn growers will have something more than pin money to spend. They will receive something like $1,750,000,000 for their crop.

Upper Hudson Region Mecca for Tourists

Albany, Aug. 2—Albany and the Upper Hudson region is becoming the Mecca for tourists from all parts of the United States and Canada. Thousands of automobile beat and hiking parties pass through here daily to visit points of interest in this section.

Reports received here from the nothern part of the State are to the effect that this will be a banner year for the resorts in Adirondacks.

One of the most noticeable changes from other years is the great number of girls hickers in knickers on their way to the mountains. Many of the young women say it is just a "nice walk" from New York City to Albany and thence to the woods.

Is This One of Stuart's Washingtons?

Considerable discussion has been aroused among art critics over this painting, which shows George Washington with Marquis Lafayette in the background, as to the possibilities of its being the work of Gilbert C. Stuart. The picture, which is supposed to have been painted for Lafayette, is now in the possession of W. D. Bristol of Lisbon, O. It was purchased from a French family in 1840. There are many Stuart characteristics in the picture and art critics are waiting to see the results of the cleaning process before passing final judgment.

ASKED TO KILL CHICKENS, GIRL POISONS HERSELF

Flint, Mich., Aug. 2—Edna Fansheld has a tender heart. Her mother asked her to kill some baby chickens that had been injured in a storm.

The girl started for the coop and then turned suddenly and ran screaming to the house.

"I would rather take my own life than kill little baby chickens," she cried.

Her nine-year-old sister ran after her to the bathroom and managed to knock a bottle of poison from her hand after Edna had swallowed half of it.

She has a chance to recover.

Turtle Racing Is Fad Among Ohio Children

Cincinnati, Aug. 2—Turtle racing is one of the favorite sports at the Kroger Hills camp for children, near Terrace Park, the youngsters catching their entries in nearby creeks and cheering wildly as one or the other of the favorites forges ahead. Two hundred feet is the longest distance "run" and almost an hour is required to finish the course even for the swiftest of the hard-shelled racers. The youngsters christen their turtles after noted race horses, so that "Morvich," Whiskaway," "Xxterminatar," "Miss Joy" and Fire-brand" are common names in the unique turf classics. At times as many as a hundred turtles are entered in the race, their "jockeys" following them across the course and keeping them headed for the tape.

Parnell News

A. J. Porch transacted business in Maryville last Saturday.

Mrs. Ed Orth of Danville, N. Dak., arrived Monday morning for a brief stay with relatives. She is a sister of Elmer Herndon but arrived too late for the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Hines and family went to Conception the first of the week where they will make their future home.

A meeting in the interest of the school fair was held Saturday evening at Roof & La Favor's Hardware Store. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Alex Waldeir, temporary chairman, who briefly stated the object of the meeting and the importance of cooperation and the spirit of "Boost." The following permanent officers were elected: president, Mrs. T. M. Cox; vice-president, Mrs. Alex Waldier; secretary, Mrs. E. J. Klaas; treasurer, Henry Boedeker. The following executive and financial committees were chosen from their respective districts: Champion Hill, Miss Ethel Stephison, Mrs. Alex Waldier and Marion Lyle; Elm Grove, Miss Iva Gillispie, Mrs. Commodore Foland and Emmett Miller; Logan, Ivan Mayfield, George Auffert and Robert Riley; Parnell, Superintendent Broadbent, Charles Evans and James LaFavor; Bunkerhill, Miss Faye Willis, A. J. Porch and Emery Dixon; Mt. Everett, Miss Myrle Lyle, C. S. Harris and Elmer Miller; Miller School, Miss Gladys Harris, Mrs. Ben Hovenkotten and Henry Boedeker. The Fair will be held in October. The dates have not yet been determined.

Our chautauqua executive committee have reduced the fee of guarantors from $6.50 to $6.00. Pay at once and get ready to enjoy a five day's literary treat.

Mrs. Nettie Stewart of Santa Fe, New Mexico, arrived here Monday to spend a part of her vacation with old friends and former acquaintances. Mrs. Stewart was a former teacher of the Parnell school. First as a grade teacher and later as principal. She now has a Government position in the Indian schools and expresses herself as liking the work well. This is her fourth year in the same place.

The Herndon funeral at Oxford Saturday was largely attended by our citizens. It was one of the saddest ever held in our vicinity. Remember Friday as a beautiful day. Then picture a father in the vigor of his health and manhood kissing his sleeping babe waving a good bye in response to a chubby hand at the window and with the older children go forth, in the sweat of his brow to earn a livelyhood for his dear ones. In so short a time those children who accompanied him were to see, as nearly as anyone could see, the accident that hurled, their father into Eternity. No last lingering smile, no loving parting word to sustain and comfort them in the trials yet to come. Yes, sympathize with this bereaved wife and family, and as far as practical be to them a friend and benefactor.

Parnell is on the stir and her "Busy Day" will not be over for sometime. We have some interesting things ahead. On Saturday we hope to vote a franchise that will light up our little city with electricity, also extend our corporation lines and add about another one hundred good citizens to our inhabitants. Then on Aug. 24th commences our big Free Chautauqua. The only Free Chautauqua in Missouri and a program of excellent talent. Then the School Fair, to be second to none in the county. And other good things still in the embroyo state. On the map? Yes!

One of the unique picnics of the season was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Evans last Sunday. The occasion being the celebration of the birthdays of twelve of the guests. These birthdays all occur in the months of July and Aug. and as July waned and Aug. began was thought a fitting time to observe the event. The birthdays are all in the Breashear-Evans relationship. The family began to assemble about 11 o'clock with baskets filled with all the good things of the productive year. A table was erected in the front yard which contained plenty and to spare for those assembled. They spent the entire day in visiting and feasting, thus adding another pleasant event to those cherished by the families. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Breashear, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Evans, B. H. Brashear and family, P. A. Evans and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Evans of St. Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. George Konell and family of Savannah, J. W. Evans and family and Cydney Sanders and wife of Sheridan, the host, hostess and daughter, Matie and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Conrad and family of near Parnell.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barton of Maryville were Parnell visitors Tuesday.

Mrs. Herman Suiter and daughter, Mary, of St. Joseph and Mrs. O. K. Herndon of Kansas City are visiting their parents, J. W. Keanedy and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Spoonemore and V. E. Bird and Mrs. Harry Bird drove to Maryville Tuesday evening to visit Mrs. V. E. Bird, who is still unable to come home on account of the broken ankle which she suffered more than a week ago.

Senator LeFavor is anticipating a visit from his father and sister of Des Moines in the near future.

H. Anderson and wife of Grant City and Will Batt and wife of Worth were Sunday visitors at the home of C. T. Batt and family. Mrs. Batt is still very ill. Her sister returned to her home in Des Moines Monday.

Swimmers Should Observe Dont's In The Water

There is rhyme and reason in Mother Goose's "Hang your clothes on a hickory limb and don't go near the water," but there are other rules for safety first to be observed by every person visiting the beach or other swimming hole in order to reduce the summer dangers. It is estimated that at least seven thousand persons are drowned in the United States every year, and that the greater proportion of the deaths is due to accidents during the summer through carelessness or ignorance.

"Fundamental in eliminating deaths from accidental drowning is the precaution that every bather should know how to swim," says Fred M. Roseland, chief of the public safety division of the National Safety Council, in urging bathers to use precaution throughout the present summer vacation period.

"Many persons who have never taken time to learn to swim come to disaster in seeking escape from the hot weather. They fall into treacherous holes and drown before help reaches them. The rock-the-boat pest would have fewer tragedies to his credit if more of his victims knew how to handle themselves in the water."

Apropos of this are some don'ts for bathers which annually appear in print in some form or another, scattered or en masse:

Don't swim on a full stomach.

Don't swim if overheated.

Don't swim until exhausted.

Don't swim if you have heart trouble

Don't dive without accurate knowledge of the depth of the water.

Don't wade into the water with the arms above the head. You will not be ready to stroke if you step into a hole.

Don't lean backward when wading into water. Always be ready to fall forward.

Don't fail to learn Red Cross life-saving and resuscitation methods. Be capable of saving yourself and your companion.

Don't cry for help in fun. Deep water is no place to call "Wolf, wolf!"

Don't go in swimming alone unless you are an expert.

BOARD ADOPTS SYSTEM OF PRIMARY ROADS

First Primary Contracts Will be Let Without Delay—No Changes in Maryville Road

Jefferson City, Aug. 2—Missouri is ready now to build its modern highway system.

The state highway commission yesterday adopted the suggestions and recommendations of its engineers of July 12 for the establishment of fifteen hundred miles of primary highways, with the addition of about ten miles of highway in Newton County, filling out a link connecting Neosho, Carthage and Webb City with Joplin.

This short highway has, in reality, been constructed and paid for by the state and Newton County, and it was suggested as a feeder by the engineers in their report, but not recommended definitely lest the prescribed mileage should be overrun.

As the primary system now stands, it embraces 1,543 miles. The commission and the engineers are of the opinion that so long as the mileage is below 1,550 miles the law has been compiled with. The secondary system will not be taken up by the commission until the ins and outs of the primary system have been understood thoroughly and there has been consultation with the federal authorities.

The funds immediately available for the primary system amount to $4,400,000 in all. The first primary road contracts will be let without delay.

The definite designations of primary highway between Maryville to Neosho was:

A higher type of primary road is hereby designed from Maryville south to Neosho. PAWNEE ROCK A STATE PARK

Kansas Acquires Site of a Great Indian Battle Which Took Place on Old Trail.

One of the real historical places in Kansas—Pawnee Rock—a monument or hill of rock which stood alongside of the Santa Fe trail, and which today is still a break in the level of the Arkansas valley through which the old trail wended its way, has been made a state park, according to the Great Bend correspondence of the Topeka Capital.

Citizens of Pawnee Rock who live at the base of this park are preparing to make it one of the localities that will be remembered by the tourists as they travel over the route which for many years was the principal route to the Pacific. The rock is to be cleaned up for the summer, the road to the top, where a monument and pavilion are located, is to be made over and the place made one where tourists will find it pleasant to stop and camp.

Pawnee Rock was named for the Pawnee Indians who met annually on the rock, and tradition is that it was the scene of one of the greatest fights in the annals of the Indians of the plain, when an attacking body of Indians besieged the Pawnees while they were in annual conclave, and the fight lasted for days, the Pawnee being safely fortified on the rock but being cut off from water, though scouts managed to reach the river during the night and relieve their people on the rock.

In the years when the chief route to California was the Santa Fe trail and the government maintained forts every 40 to 100 miles the rock was a favorite camping place for trains going through. The names of hundreds of travelers were cut in the soft sandstone of which the rock is composed. Among them were many men famous in military history of the United States, including General Sherman and General Sheridan.

NEW ALLOY COMES INTO USE

Duralumin Said to Be Valuable for the Construction of Worm Wheels or Gears.

Worm wheels or gears of a new material are a recent development, says the Scientific American. Such wheels have mainly been made of steel or iron or bronze, but now, for certain purposes and under certain conditions they are being made of duralumin. This alloy has never before been used as gears.

Duralumin is an alloy of aluminum magnesium, manganese and a little copper, and its strength and toughness can be made equal to mild steel, and for a given section the weight is one-third that of the continental bronze Superior strength in the teeth is assured by the alloy's tensile strength and elastic limit.

The same properties that make duralumin a suitable and desirable material for worm wheels also make it valuable for spur gears and other gearing.

Where duralumin can be run with steel rather than against itself the best results are obtained. For example, in the timing gear trains of automobile motors, where both long life and quietness are essential, helical cut spur gears of duralumin alternated with steel gears have been in successful service.

London's Infamous Slums.

The slums of London, especially in Shoreditch and Bethnal Green, have scores of householders who have not had to pay any rent for two or three years and have not the remotest idea of who their landlords are. The landlords dare not come forward and admit that they own these houses, which are in a shocking state of repair. The property is now a liability rather than an asset. These tumbledown houses have mostly fallen into the hands of foreigners and change hands so frequently that track is lost of the former owners. The queen was shown some of the worst of these places by the mayor when she visited Shoreditch recently. She had expressed a wish that nothing should be "tidied up" beforehand. In two rooms of one ramshackle dwelling in Wilmer gardens lives a man with no less than nine children.

His Affliction.

A new disease has been discovered—at least so one of the workers of the Pittsburgh chapter of the American Red Cross reports. It developed the other day when a veteran called for aid.

"What can we do for you?" anxiously inquired the worker as she looked into the rather dejected countenance of the World war soldier.

"I need some assistance."

"What does your doctor say is the matter?"

"I dunno just what it is, but he says 'formation of the diagnosis.'"

An effort is being made to ascertain the nature of this new ailment.—Medical Record.

Smashes Egg Laying Record.

An Anaconda hen recently owned by Nels Pierson, who lives in the Mascotte section, has smashed the world's record for egg production in one year by laying 339 eggs. Mr. Pierson had another hen of the same breed which laid 335 eggs during the year 1921. The chickens were purchased from a poultry breeder at Berea, O., and when the breeder learned of the remarkable record of the two birds he came all the way from his Ohio home, purchased them and took them back north for exhibition purposes.—Eustis Lake (Fla.) Served in Union Army During the Civil War—Came to Maryville in 1880.

McMath, who came especially for his birthday. Mr. Willis is enjoying comparatively good health for one of his age and is quite active.

Mr. Willis is a veteran of the Civil War, having enlisted in the Union army in Company C of the Eleventh Iowa Infantry. While he was in service he took severely ill, and was sent out on detached duty and later sent home expected to die. His service was chiefly confined to the work in central Missouri. He and William Ashford served in the same ompany

Mr. Willis was born at Morris, Belmont County, Ohio, and lived in several counties of Ohio. While yet a young man he moved to southeast Iowa, near Winfield in Henry County, where he lived for about fourteen years. Then he moved to Springhill, Kan. He came to Maryville in 1880 and settled on a farm, where he lived for about a year and a half, and then moved into town to the place where they now live. He was married in 1868 to Miss Elizabeth Porter at Springhill, Kan. Mrs. Willis died in 1913.

The mercantile game was the chief interest for Mr. Willis while he was in Kansas and he followed it for a while after coming to Maryville. He retired from business because of poor health.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Doyle and three children and Mrs. John Campbell of Kansas City will arrive in Maryville tomorrow night for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. George B. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wolfert.

MADE BUSINESS OF MURDER

William Burke, Infamous Irishman, Also Instrumental in Adding Significant Verb to Language.

Burke and Hare were two notorious body-snatchers, or resurrectionists, who carried on their infamous trade in Edinburgh. William Burke was born in Ireland in 1792, and went to Scotland as a laborer about 1817. In 1827 he was living in a cheap lodging house kept by another Irish laborer named William Hare. About the end of 1827 one of Hare's lodgers, an army pensioner, died, and Burke and Hare sold the body to Dr. Robert Knox, an Edinburgh anatomist. Hare thereupon suggested body-snatching as a business and Burke agreed. The two men then started in to entice poor travelers to Hare's or some other cheap lodging house. The victims were plied with liquor and then suffocated under mattresses, without marks of violence. Doctor Knox took the bodies and paid up to £14 (860) for them. At least 15 people had been murdered in this way before Burke and Hare were arrested. Hare turned king's evidence, and Burke was found guilty and hanged in Edinburgh on January 28, 1829. Hare found Scotland too hot for him and went to England, where he is believed to have died under an assumed name. The verb "to burke," meaning to suffocate, to strangle, to suppress, or to put out of the way secretly, had its origin in Burke's method of doing away with his victims.

WHERE GREAT EXPLORER LIES

South Georgia Island, Tomb of Shackleton, Lonely Spot in the Great Antarctic Region.

An interesting picture of life in South Georgia island, the "Gateway of the Antarctic," where Shackleton was buried, was given by an explorer who made a research expedition there a few years ago. At that time there was only one woman on the island, and she was the domestic in the household of Capt. C. A. Larsen, a former Antarctic explorer who had settled down as head of a Norwegian whaling station on the island. "Below my solitary tent," the correspondent writes, "the grassy bank sloped sharply to a milk-colored glacial stream entering an inlet of the sea only 50 yards away. A quarter of a mile across the inlet stood the perpendicular front of a beautiful valley glacier, coming down between peaked hills from the lifeless, silent interior. Penguins bobbed out of the sea below the glacier and were my most interesting callers for their curiosity could not resist a human being. Sea elephants crawled unconcernedly up the stream below me and went to sleep among the hummucks on the beach. Above the tent, on the plateau of the little promontory, seven pairs of albatrosses carried on their courtship and nesting, along with giant petrels, skuas, kelp gulls and the pretty little antarctic titlarks, the only land bird of the Far South, whose cheerful song was almost the sole homelike sound."

NEWS OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION FOR WEEK.

(J. S. Hubbard, Executive Secretary of the Missouri Press Association.)

Jefferson City, July 26.

By the recommendation of the Committee on Judiciary in its report to the Constitutional Convention, the number of Judges of the Supreme Court is increased from seven to nine and three divisions of three Judges each are created with the provision that the two additional Judges shall be temporarily selected by the court from different political parties. From information gathered by the committee it believes that a Supreme Court so constituted and organized will be able to promptly dispose of all cases coming before it for at least several years to come.

The Courts of Appeals remain as they are except that three additional Judges are added to the St. Louis Court of Appeals and two divisions are created in that court. The committee states that it felt absolutely necessary to make this change because it found there were about one thousand cases on the docket of that court for disposition and the work some three or more years behind. The committee also thought it wise to recommend provisions for increasing the Judges of the Courts of Appeals as the necessity might arise and authorized the legislature to increase, if necessary, the jurisdiction of these courts beyond $7,500 The committee recommends that the number of Circuits Courts be reduced from thirty-eight, as at present to fifteen, in the belief that this number will be sufficient to take care of the business of those courts if county courts are established as recommended in the article submitted.

The plan submitted by the committee abolishes Probate Courts, County Courts, as now constituted, Criminal Courts, Juvenile Courts and Justices of the Peace. In lieu of these tribunals as now existing a County Court is created in each county and given exclusive jurisdiction over probate matters, juvenile matters, preliminary examination and concurrent jurisdiction with the Circuit Court in civil actions (exclusive of divorce cases and those involving title to real estate) where the amount involved does not exceed two thousand dollars, and misdemeanors. The County Court is also given the right to issue, hear and determine writs of the various kinds and to grant injunctions without regard to the amount involved. In place of the County Court as now existing, a Board of Commissioners, composed of three members, is created which is authorized to transact all county business but is not made a court of record or given judicial power.

While Justices of the Peace are abolished, the legislature is given the right to recreate the office giving the Justices civil jurisdiction only, not exceeding $250 in amount.

Circuit Clerks are made ex officio clerks of the County Court.

It is the opinion of the committee that the County Court can easily take care of the probate matters and that it will be open at all times for the transaction of all business. It is also believed that the County Court should have jurisdiction over juvenile matters which are growing in importance and should have much more prompt attention than can be given by the Circuit Judges who hold, in most counties, only two or three short terms annually. Provision has been made for holding County Courts at places other than the county seat, where it is desirable. The plan also authorizes the Judges of the County Court to hold terms, or parts of terms, of the Circuit Court, and, likewise, the Judges of the Circuit Court to act as Judges of the County Courts wherever the condition of business makes it advisable.

It is provided that the Circuit, County and Probate Judges as well as Justices of the Peace, in office at the time the revised Constitution goes into effect shall hold office until the expiration of their terms.

The committee also proposes a Judicial Council, composed of thirteen members, selected from all the courts of record and clothed with sole authority to prescribe forms of pleading and the practice and procedure in civil and criminal cases. The present code is not abolished but is to remain in effect except as changed and displaced by the action of the Council of Judges. The plan has the sanction of the leading jurists of the entire country as well as the national and state bar association according to the committee's report.

Municipal corporation courts are not made courts of record, but are authorized to hear and determine only cases arising under city ordinances. The committee states that the cost of the judiciary under the plan submitted will be materially less than it is at present.

In its report and recommendations to the Constitutional Convention the Committee on Legislation, Impeachments and Removal from Office reduces the length of the regular biennial sessions of the General Assembly to sixty days instead of seventy and increases the pay of members from $5 to $10 per day, with a reduction to one dollar a day after sixty days instead of seventy. In special sessions the $10 a day is limited to thirty days and for revising session to ninety days. The amount to be expended for clerk hire and other expenses of the session is limited to $400 per day in the house and $300 per day in the senate. The committee reports that in its investigation it has found that daily expenses for clerical purposes in the past have run in some cases from $1,600 to $2,000. If this section is adopted it will mean either a cutting down of the number of employes or a reduction of their pay. In this same connection the committee provides that the president pro tem. of the senate, the speaker and speaker pro tem. of the house shall each receive $2.50 per day more than the pay of the regular members.

Another change relates to the filling of vacancies occurring within twenty days of the convening of the General Assembly or during its sessions. Now it is necessary to hold special elections with their attendant expense. Under the committee provisions the Governor is to fill the vacancies by appointment from the same party with which the members was affiliated. Vacancies occurring more than twenty days before the opening of the session are to be filled by special elections as at present. Where the Governor appoints a member he shall serve for the unexpired term or until the next regular election.

If the committee recommendation is adopted judges of the county court of Cole county will not be allowed to administer the oath of office to members. This power will be reserved to members of the Supreme or circuit courts.

Appropriation year is changed in the committee's recommendation from January 1 to July 1, so that the appropriations of all moneys for running of the state government and institutions will begin with July of the year in which the General Assembly convenes and end on June 30 two years later. Under the present law it is necessary for state institutions to borrow money in the opening months of the session until the legislature passes its appropriation bills. The first General Assembly after the passage of the Constitution will make its appropriations under the provision of this section to run for two and one-half years.

Only slight changes have been made in other sections and relate principally to order of numbers and combining of sections without changes in the subject matter. The revising sessions of the legislature are fixed for 1929 and every ten years after that date.

Proposal No. 116, relative to reducing the number of Senators and Representatives, which was before this committee, was referred to the Committee on Congressional, Judicial, Senatorial, and Representative Districts, whose report will be filed with the convention soon.

Motion pictures will not be recognized in the Constitution, so far as the Committee on Bill of Rights is concerned. The committee by a unanimous vote refused to adopt Proposal No. 135, which would recognize moving pictures as in the same class with news papers under freedom of speech and the press. The committee was convinced in its deliberations by the decision of the United States Supreme Court, which states that "The exhibition of moving pictures is a business pure and simple, originated and conducted for profit like other spectacles, not to be regarded as a part of the press of the county, or as organs of public opinion within the meaning of freedom of speech and publication guaranteed by the Constitution of Ohio." The case in question originated in Ohio, but a Missouri case was also considered in connection with it. The court decision was unanimous as was the decision of all the lower courts. The decision was written by Justice McKenna.

If the tentative recommendation of the Taxation Committee is adopted by the Convention all school districts will be allowed to levy 40 cents on the hundred dollar valuation for school purposes without a vote of the people; up to one dollar by a majority vote of the taxpayers, and up to $1.20 by a two-thirds vote of the taxpayers. A previous vote by the committee would give St. Louis a right to levy 75 cents without a vote of the people and up to $1.25 by vote of the taxpayers.

By a vote taken by the Taxation Committee it was decided to strike out from Section 11 of Article X on taxation the anomalous provision fixing a special limitation on those counties having a valuation of between six and ten million dollars.

Personal solicitation for signatures to initiative and referendum petitions will be done away with if proposal No. 248, now before the Committee on Initiative and Referendum is acted upon favorably by the Convention. Under its provisions voters interested in the petitions are required to visit the office of some official in the city or county where the petitions will be on file to receive signatures until the time comes for them to be certified to the Secretary of State. No voter is deprived of his rights under the initiative and referendum and, if interested, will find little difficulty in registering his desires by visiting some central office and signing his name to the petition. Various proposals before the committee would raise the percentage of signatures, some going as high as 12, 15 and even 25 per cent.

In a hearing before a joint meeting of the Committee on Education and State Officers and Salaries, President Jones of the University of Missouri and former Senator F. M. McDavid of the Board of Curators appeared to protest against any proposition that would place the University under direction of a general Board of Education. If such a board were to be established to look after the public schools, President Jones urged that it be a separate one and that the present method of administering affairs of the University be continued. He believed also that in addition to other duties the Board of Education, if established, would, as a rule, attract men of higher attainments to the office of State Superintendent or Commissioner of Education if he were to be appointed by the board instead of elected as at present. Professor Loeb of the University, speaking for the State Teachers' Association, said that the members of that body were in favor of a State Board and also favored the selection of State Superintendents by that board. On being questioned, he said that the election of Superintendent in the spring instead of at the general election would probably result in taking the office out of politics more than in the present method.

Moving pictures of the members and employes of the Convention were taken last week and will be shown in Missouri cities within the next few weeks. The camera man appeared and asked for the privilege and most of the members in attendance complied with the request.

The big road meeting to favor or protest against the report of the engineers held the center of the stage in assembly chamber three days this week, which interfered to some extent with general sessions of the Convention. The committees, however, have kept busy all the time and are fast getting their reports into shape for presentation to the Convention.

In order that the delegates to the constitutional convention can go home to vote at the primaries Tuesday, the body adopted a resolution for a recess from Saturday until the following Thursday. An effort was made to adjourn until Monday, September 4, without pay, but the delegates decided it was best to come back as soon as they had voted and take up committee reports. Three committees have submitted their recommended draft for amendments, and they are on the calendar for discussion. These reports are the recommendation for revision of the articles in the constitution on legislation, elections and the judiciary.

WON'T TRY TO SPANK COW WITH MOTOR CAR AGAIN

Bucyrus, O., Aug. 1.—Jimmie Fenner, a Bucyrus lad, has his own opinion as to what constitutes an immovable force. Never, never again will he attempt to spank a cow with the front end of an auto.

Jimmie was driving his car along the smoothly-paved thoroughfare, several miles east of Bucyrus, at a fair rate of speed when he saw directly ahead, traveling without warning tail lights, a lonesome cow.

The machine stopped but the cow went on down the road, leaving the radiator badly smashed

The animal was going "on low" in the same direction that Jimmie's car was moving. In less time than it takes to tell it the automobile and the cow made a most forceful contact. There was a frightful crash, a surprised "Moo!" and the automobile stopped dead.

Not so with the cow. She scrambled to her feet and shot off into the darkness, leaving the car with the radiator smashed back on the hood, the hood bent back on the cowl and the cowl slightly crumpled.

The wrecking crew towed the auto back into town to the garage. Although no one was injured it is thought that the cow needed some court plaster next morning.

WOMAN'S ECONOMY IS DISPLAYED IN A WILL.

London, Aug. 1.—Elizabeth Hunt had economy in mind even when she made her will.

The woman's will provided that her relatives should "just arrange for the undertaker to take my body to the crematorium, and anyone wishing to see me cremated can go by bus. Any other expense is quite unnecessary."

"What's the New?"

WHEN Columbus and his caravels returned from the New World, the first question shouted from the shore was, "What's the news?"

That's always the question of paramount importance. Years ago folks asked it of the post rider, the soldier returned from the wars, the man who had been down to the settlements, or the neighbor back from the general store.

Today, you find the answer in your newspaper. Through the newspapers the news of the world and of the community quickly becomes public knowledge. And remember this—it takes two kinds of news to make a modern paper complete.

The first tells of happenings near and far—of fires, sports, elections, accidents, marriages, deaths, great men, great events.

The second tells of thing you eat, wear and use—things you buy, things being sold to your friends and neighbors. This news is Advertising.

It's just as important to keep up-to-date on the advertising in this paper as it is to read about what's doing in the world of events.

Advertising is an essential news service. It is distinctly to your advantage to be guided by it.

TAKE STILL PICTURES TO BE SHOWN AT SEDALIA

Scenes Taken on the Farms of Bert Hubbell and Hugh Whiteford Yesterday.

Ralph Marcell and George A. Pickens took two still pictures yesterday about four feet long of two farm scenes in Nodaway County to be used in the exhibit of Nodaway County agriculture film at the State Fair.

One picture was a threshing scene between Barnard and Guilford, showing a gang threshing the wheat of Bert Hubbell. The threshing machine was in the center of the picture which was surrounded by wheat in the shock. On the sides and in the background were fields of oats, corn, alfalfa, red clover and rye. With the effect of the skyline the picture made a typical threshing scene of Nodaway County and of farm products.

Another picture was taken at the home of Hugh Whiteford, three miles southeast of Guilford, which had Mr. Whiteford's home as the center of the picture. The rest of the picture was examples of native hay as grown in this county and corn, wheat, blue grass and timber.

Other pictures similar to these will be taken through out the county and will be exhibited in front of the tent which will house the Nodaway County agriculture films at Sedalia.

LOCUST DRIVE PEOPLE FROM THEIR OWN HOMES.

Madrid, Aug. 1.—Inhabitants have fled from the villages of Aragon, driven from their homes by the locust pest.

The locusts have descended upon the fertile fields of Aragon in such numbers that the crop prospects are dark, and peasants have had to fight through clouds of the pests to avoid suffocation.

Missouri Man Winner in Fiddling Tourney

Paris, Mo., Aug. 2—The fiddling championship crown in the State of Missouri adorns the brow of Wood Brown, of Monroe County, who led the field of four contestants here last Winter.

William Stalcup, Champion fiddler of Shelby County, recently felt the sting of defeat at the hands of Brown, when they met to display their bowing and fingering agility to townpeople here. The contest was held in the opera house which was packed.

With a large gold championship medal, which shone with a dazzling brilliancy, pinned to his breast, Brown took the stage and played two selections. A deafening applause was accorded him by the audience. Stalcup then made his bid for the State fiddlinng championship.

The judges declared Brown virtually clinched the championship with his playing of "The Lost Indian," a selection which is regarded as the acid test for fiddlers in Missouri competitions.

Dreams He Found Money ...and Dream Comes True

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 2—Did you ever dream you had found a large amount of money and awake to find your dream had come true? Possibly not, but you can imagine the pleasant surprise you would have.

Such was the feeling of William H. Mueller as he alighted from a street car in front of his home after spending the night in a section camp several miles away. Standing at his curbing was his automobile, which two bandids had taken, robbing him of his money and driving into the country. Mueller slept at a camp all night and walked to a street car line the next morning.

PERTINENT FACTS CONCERNING GOVERNMENT INSURANCE

The following information regarding government insurance is sent out by the assistant director of insurance:

Yearly Renewable Term Insurance against total permanent disability or death was provided by an amendment to the War Risk Insurance Act, approved October 6, 1917. This insurance was issued at net premium rates computed for payment on a monthly basis, according to the American Experience Table of Mortality with interest of 3½ per cent a year. The Act also provides that the Government would bear the cost of administration and the excess martality due to the hazards of war.

Term Insurance can be continued for five years after the termination of the War as declared by proclamation of the President of the United States. This termination of the war was declared, by joint resolution, on March 3, 1921, consequently all Yearly Renewable Term (war time) Insurance will cease March 3, 1926, and if protection is desired beyond that period, it will be necessary that the Term Insurance be converted into one or more of the forms of level premium insurance (converted insurance).

Applications for Yearly Renewable Term Insurance, averaging approximately $9,000 each, were submitted by approximately 4,500,000 persons in the service, aggregating a total of about $40,000,000,000 of insurance. Shortly after the Armistice was signed demobilization began, and the men in the army, navy and marine corps were rapidly discharged. A year later the number of men in the service had been reduced to a very low number compared with the original number of entrants.

The average age of those in the service at the time of the armistice was under 24 years. In the minds of most of them, the signing of the armistice eliminated all need for insurance. The danger was then over, from their viewpoint, and it is extremely improbable that the major portion of the original amount of insurance could have been continued, even if personal solicitation methods had been used. Very young and healthy men see little need for insurance, and when they do purchase, it is usually in small amounts. The fact that they had finished their term of service in a dangerous occupation and were returning to civil pursuits, made the payment of insurance premiums seem a useless expense.

Notwithstanding these facts and the further fact that the government did not employ the method of personal solicitation, there are at this time approximately 600,000 persons continuing their insurance, either as yearly renewable term or converted. The total amount of insurance represented is approximately $3,500,000,000.

The Government's liability under Yearly Renewable Term Insurance on account of total permanent disability and death is approximately $1,300,000,000 (commuted value on a 3½ per cent interest basis), and the total amount of premiums received on this form of insurance is approximately $400,000,000; therefore, the commuted value of the claims exceed the amount of premiums received by approximately $900,000,000, and as the benefits under term insurance are payable in monthly installments of $5.75 for each $1,000 of insurance covering a period of 240 months, the Government will ultimately pay in benefits $1,380 for each $1,000 of insurance, aggregating a sum of over $1,000,000,000 more than the amount recieved in premiums on account of Yearly Renewable Term Insurance, (war time insurance) which is directly due to the hazards of war.

In view of the fact that Yearly Renewable Term Insurance will cease on March 3, 1926, it is reasonable to assume that the premium income on Yearly Renewable Term Insurance will be sufficient to meet the liability due to future losses that will be incurred during the period of Term Insurance which ends, as above stated, on March 3, 1926. The very liberal provisions of the Amendments to the War Risk Insurance Act under date of August 9, 1921 may increase this liability so that it may be possible that the premium income will not offset it, but as stated above, it is more reasonable to assume that the premiums received will equal the liability.

The premium for Yearly Renewable Term Insurance increases yearly as the insured grows older, and becomes prohibitive at the older ages, and for this reason the privilege of conversion was provided by the War Risk Insurance Act. The premiums on United States Government Converted Insurance are net level premiums, and remain the same throughout the life of the contract. The cost of administration, and the excess losses due to the extra hazards of the military or naval service, are borne by the Government.

Those who have converted their War Term Insurance into one or more of the six forms of Government Life Insurance, the effective date of which is prior to January 1, 1922, will share in the dividends apportioned for 1922, which amount to $1,750,000. These dividends, on a $10,000 policy, range from $15.30 on a first year dividend on an ordinary life issued at age 20 to as high as $21.30 on a third year dividend on a Twenty Year Endowment issued at age 60.

Sultry Days Disastrous to Kansas City Youth

Kansas City, Aug. 2—Sultry July days brought disaster to Howard Crayton, a youth of twenty-three.

A detective informed Judge M. J. Kilroy he "couldn't believe his eyes" when he saw Clayton, dressed "a la Adam," enjoying a siesta beneath an oak tree near the business section of the city.

Judge Kilroy fined Clayton $50 and imparted some advice to him:

"We'll try to find you a cool spot at the Municipal Farm. Kansas City is not the Garden of Eden."

Frenchman Faces Death for Killing Children

Saint Brieuc, France, Aug. 2—Eugene Huguet, forty-one years old, has been condemed to death for the murder of his four children. He took them from their beds and drowned them in a lake near home.

"I did it to revenge myself upon their mother, who threatened to divorce me," he told the court.

"I'd rather he would have killed me outright than to have made me suffer death four times," pleaded the young wife and the jury stayed out only a few minutes.

NEW QUARTERS FOR COMMERCE AT STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

Demonstration School Rooms to be Equipped for Department During Vacation

During the vacation season at the State Teachers College four large rooms at the west end of the building, formerly used by the demonstration school, will be converted into a department for the commercial students. The demonstration school will not be conducted at the College this winter on account of the Garrett School being used as a rural demonstration school and the fact that the students at the College are to visit the city schools of Maryville to get their ideas regarding city teaching.

E. W. Atkinson, head of the commerce department at the College, says that with the new equipment and the new arrangement it will be possible to offer the students what is perhaps the best facilities for a business education that is to be found at any of the teachers colleges in the state. It will give more room and the best of surroundings. The department will be provided with up-to-date equipment.

The commerce department has, up to this time, been housed in two rooms in the east end of the building, which are really a part of the manual training department. These will be turned over again to this department.
